

Watercolor Workshop Presented by Julie Hill

Saturday, April 16, 2016
9:00am to 3:00pm

In this one-day workshop we will paint a landscape scene composed of an old barn, rolling hills, blue sky and trees. Students will learn how to handle these subjects with differentiating approaches, colors, brushstrokes, etc. This workshop is perfect for all skill levels, and will teach students how to set up a strong composition, creatively use color, use broad brush strokes and fun washes to create engaging and dynamic paintings. Students must bring their own watercolor materials. Suggested materials list and reference photo will be provided upon enrollment.

Julie is a native Southern Californian who has been painting since 2004. In describing her painting, Julie states, "When painting, I really like to play...I play with colors and shapes and keeping things loose and fun. I think by keeping it loose I encourage viewers to let their imagination engage so that they can see their own lives, see their own beauty, and tell their own stories. This is art to me."

Her work is represented in a number of fine art galleries on the West Coast and held in private collections, and has been selected for international art publications. You may have seen her work in the September 2014 Southwest Art Magazine. Please visit her website www.jhillpaintings.com and her artistic blog "Capturing Life with Brushstrokes" for a real treat and a listing of her upcoming workshops and events.
