President's Message

Welcome Back!

Your board and committees are thrilled to welcome you back! We've been working fast and furious to develop an exciting year of activities and a new way for us all to connect virtually until we can meet in person once again. Until then, we'll be meeting via Zoom. Don't know how to "Zoom?" Not to worry! See page 3 for info on the process. It is easy, so please give it a try and join us!

Because we're meeting virtually, we will have limited space available in our meetings so an RSVP is required to receive the code for the meeting. We will send an email to everyone about a week before the meeting to remind you to RSVP and then, a day or two before the meeting, we will send those who responded YES the code to gain access to the meeting. You can RSVP now, if you'd like, by sending an email to VHAAMeetings@gmail.com indicating your RSVP of YES for the September meeting.

Our meetings will be FREE FOR VISITORS for the near future so please be sure to invite your family, friends and coworkers. They will also need to RSVP for the meeting by emailing VHAAMeetings@gmail.com.

Speaking of joining in, we'd love to have you join our Board or a committee! If you're interested (and we hope you are!), just email Nikkithomas1@gmail.com and she can get you involved. (And there's certainly room and need on the Publicity Committee... hint! hint!)

At the September 4 meeting, we will be electing the Board of Directors and Chairpersons for the 2020-2021 Year. Please review the slate of our wonderful volunteers for these positions on page 3, and be prepared to vote at the meeting.

There are so many great things coming up! I'm so happy to be a part of it and I hope that you will be too! If you have any thoughts, ideas of things you'd like to see or do, or just an idea in general ... just drop me a line! I'd love to hear from you! You can email me at jenethomasian@gmail.com.

Jennifer Thomasian, President

Richard Scott - a ZOOM Demo on Gouache

Dilmit Singh

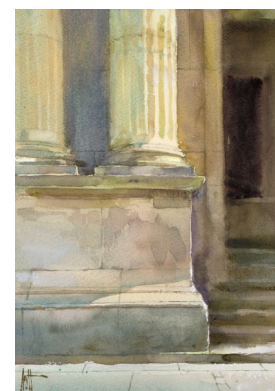

Our demonstrator for September is Richard Edward Scott — a painter, teacher and writer. Self-taught in drawing and watercolor, he paints outdoors and in the studio. His favorite painting subjects are architecture, gardens, still lifes and crafts. His artworks have been published in various art and design magazines, periodicals and books.

He currently teaches drawing and painting at the Norton Simon Museum in Pasadena, California, the Huntington Library in San Marino, California, and art workshops throughout the US, Canada, and Europe. For 20 years he has taught at numerous universities including Cal Poly Pomona, UCLA, Art Center, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, and UNLV.

He has written for various art and design magazines and in 2013 published a book on drawing called, Sketching - from Square One to Trafalgar Square. He resides in Pasadena, California.

What is Gouache Compared to Watercolor?

Nikki Thomas

The American Watercolor magazine dated July 27, 2020 addresses this question, “What is gouache?” Kelly Kane describes how fine art color particles are mixed with different mediums: oil with oil, acrylic suspended in polymer, and watercolor and gouache suspended in gum arabic. Gouache and watercolors can be used interchangeably and even mixed. Both use water for clean up and both can be used on watercolor paper and be applied by the same brushes as well.

The difference: gouache is opaque (not able to be seen through; not transparent.) and watercolor is transparent (allowing light to be seen through). "Gouache dries quicker and darker than watercolor," says Kelly Kane, "because the larger particles of pigment are packed more tightly together." She also notes that some manufacturers include a white chalk additive to further reduce transparency.

Tiny particles aren't packed tightly together in watercolors, which allows light to bounce against the white paper and back out. This creates the luminosity that watercolors bring.

In the art stores, you can buy gouache in separate tubes just like other paints, manufactured by the same companies you are familiar with for watercolor such as Winsor Newton, Holbein, M. Graham, Schminke, etc. Maybe after seeing Richard's demo, you'll want to pick some up, and enjoy experimenting with gouache yourself!

New Member

It's been a while since we've been together, so we wanted to be sure to acknowledge new member Yvonne Jongeling of La Crescenta. She works in mixed media. Welcome!!

Ready to ZOOM?

Jeanne Windoffer

If you haven't tried it yet, now's a great time. It's really not difficult, and you can access the meetings through your Mac or PC, laptop or even phone. Computers give you the biggest video space to watch the demo and all the faces of folks in the meeting. Best way to learn how? Ask a teenager, or young adult! Failing that, pull up your browser and go to <https://support.zoom.us> If you scroll down just a bit you'll see a video option of how to "Join a Meeting." In a 3 minute video they'll show you the steps to get in. It's only about 3 or 4 clicks of your mouse. You don't have to download an application, you can join right from your computer on the zoom website opened when you click on the emailed link.

If you need a little more help, email me at VHArt\_News@yahoo.com by Sept 1, and I'll offer a ZOOM "test" meeting on Wednesday, Sept 2. And remember to RSVP "yes" to VHAAMeetings@gmail.com to get the emailed link for our September 4 meeting. We'll see you there!
